

DiW's Black Grail Gains Attention with Khamzat Chimaev

In a world where luxury timepieces often blur into predictability, it takes something extraordinary to stand apart.

HAMBURG, HAMGURG, GERMANY, September 5, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- When UFC star Khamzat Chimaev was recently seen with the Black Grail All Carbon by DiW (Designa Individual Watches), the watch world took notice. Khamzat Chimaev is no stranger to pushing limits. Known for his relentless spirit inside the octagon, his decision to wear the Black Grail All Carbon reflects the same principles that drive his career: strength, individuality, and resilience. The Black Grail is not just another watch — it's the lightest and most exclusive interpretation of the Nautilus ever created. Fully constructed from carbon fiber, including both the case and the bracelet, it embodies the kind of uncompromising innovation that resonates with champions.

The Black Grail All Carbon is the pinnacle of DiW's craft. Its case and integrated bracelet are carved from multi-layered carbon fiber, resulting in a structure that is exceptionally light yet incredibly strong.

Each detail is finished by hand, from the precise alignment of the case geometry to the subtle textures of the carbon layers. The result? A timepiece that weighs next to nothing, yet carries the weight of unmatched exclusivity.

"In luxury watchmaking, true rarity comes from vision and execution, not just a name," says a DiW spokesperson. "The Black Grail represents exactly that — the meeting point of technical excellence and pure individuality."

The Black Grail is produced in extremely limited numbers, with each piece built almost entirely by hand. Its rarity mirrors the uniqueness of the athletes, collectors, and visionaries who choose it. Only 5 pieces produced per year.

For Khamzat, it is more than a watch — it is a symbol of a journey marked by discipline, victories, and an unshakable belief in his own path. Just as he dominates in the cage, the Black Grail dominates in silence: no compromise, no comparison, only presence.

From the octagon to the world stage, Khamzat Chimaev is a figure defined by intensity and focus. His choice of the Black Grail All Carbon reflects that same DNA.

For those who seek more than just a watch, the Black Grail offers something rare: a timepiece that doesn't just measure hours, but embodies the spirit of those who refuse to be ordinary.
