The Business Research Company

The size of the multi-manager investment market has significantly expanded over the past years. Its projected growth will see it rise from $8.62 billion in 2024 to $9.19 billion in 2025, exhibiting a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 6.6%. This notable growth during the historical period is due to several factors including more stringent regulatory compliance, the escalating number of professional lawsuits, heightened awareness among small businesses, an increase in service-oriented economies, as well as surging demand in the financial and legal sectors.

Anticipated to witness robust expansion in the coming years, the multi-manager investment market's valuation is slated to reach $11.68 billion by 2029, growing at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 6.2%. The predicted surge during this period can be traced back to the escalating digital transformation in services, growing threats from cyber activities, the burgeoning freelance and gig economy, the development of small and medium-sized enterprises, and heightened business complexity. The forthcoming period will be characterised by major trends like the progression in risk evaluation powered by artificial intelligence, creative online policy distribution methods, development of industry-specific insurance coverage, cutting-edge claims automation systems, and the rise of bundled insurance solutions.

What Are Key Factors Driving The Demand In The Global Multi Manager Investment Market?

The burgeoning of small and medium-sized businesses is projected to fuel the expansion of the multi-manager investment sector in the future. These are firms with a limited workforce and turnover, generally operating locally or regionally. The surge in small and medium-sized businesses can be credited to better access to the digital framework which minimalizes initial expenses and facilitates easy penetration in the market. Multi-manager investments assist these enterprises by offering a range of funding avenues, simplifying the access to finance. It mitigates financial hazards through meticulous manager selection and portfolio diversification, thus amplifying the prospects for long-term growth. For example, Statistics Canada, a statistical agency based in Canada, reported in December 2024 that small retail, services, and trade (RST) businesses touched the figure of 320,585 in 2022, registering a growth of 1.7% from 315,221 in 2021. As a result, the expansion of small and medium enterprises (SMEs) is steering the growth of the multi-manager investment market.
