Japan Opening Up to Global Entrepreneurs:

As the world's third-largest economy, Japan is actively working to attract international business. Government initiatives aim to improve the business environment, reduce bureaucracy, and make market entry easier for foreign investors. Tokyo, in particular, is positioning itself as a hub for finance, technology, and innovation in Asia. Yet, challenges remain—from banking restrictions to compliance hurdles—which is where EBDA Consulting steps in to bridge the gap.

Common Questions from Foreign Entrepreneurs:

Q: I live overseas. Can I set up a company in Japan without being there?

A: Yes. EBDA Consulting offers remote incorporation services. As our Founder and CEO is a licensed Japanese attorney, we can directly handle your registration without external coordination, ensuring a smoother process.

Q: Should I choose a Kabushiki Kaisha (株式会社) or a Godo Kaisha (有限会社)?

A: A Kabushiki Kaisha is more formal, widely recognized, and suited for larger operations, while a Godo Kaisha is more flexible and cost-effective. EBDA Consulting advises clients based on their business goals and industry needs.

Q: My business requires special licensing in Japan. Can you handle that?

A: Absolutely. From food import/export to travel agencies and real estate, we identify and manage the licensing process to ensure compliance.

Q: Can you prepare a Japanese-style business plan?

A: Yes. We create professional, compliant business plans tailored to Japanese standards, essential for visa applications and funding requests.

Q: Do I need a Business Manager Visa to run my company in Japan?

A: Yes, if you plan to live in Japan and manage your company. EBDA Consulting prepares all required documents and works with immigration specialists to streamline visa approval.

Q: Can you help me open a Japanese bank account?

A: Yes. We assist with documentation and introductions to banks open to foreign-owned companies, easing the account-opening process.
