served with honor and courage, and we owe it to them to ensure they have access to meaningful career opportunities as they reenter civilian life. By giving veterans early access to this event, the Albany Job Fair is making a clear and powerful statement: your service is appreciated, and your future is important. Connecting veterans with employers who understand their value is one of the smartest investments we can make in both our workforce and our community," said Congressman Paul D. Tonko.

"I would like to commend the Albany Job Fair for once again dedicating the first hour of the event exclusively for Veterans. It's a powerful way to show respect for those who have served and to make sure they have access to everything the fair has to offer. It's also a great time of year to look for a job as employers get ready to enter the last quarter of the year and prepare for the holiday season," said Albany County Executive Daniel P. McCoy.

"Helping our veterans find meaningful employment is one of the most important ways we can honor their service," said Assemblyman Angelo Santabarbara. "These brave men and women have the skills, discipline, and dedication that make them invaluable members of our workforce. Job fairs like this one not only connect veterans to great career opportunities but also remind them that their service is respected and appreciated long after their uniforms are retired."

What also sets The Albany Job Fair apart is its resume distribution program, designed to benefit all job seekers — whether they attend in person or not. Resumes can be submitted ahead of the event by emailing to resumes@albanyjobfair.com. The resumes are then gathered and
