According to CultureMap Houston, Houston continues to surge forward as one of the nation's fastest-growing metro areas. Between July 2023 and July 2024, the city added over 43,000 new residents, bringing the city's population to approximately 2.39 million — a clear sign of rising healthcare demand in the region.

Modern Primary Healthcare's new location places it in the heart of Houston's expanding medical hub — adjacent not only to prominent hospitals and specialty practices, but also near the new Modern Heart and Vascular Institute building, a 106,000-square-foot facility featuring state-of-the-art imaging and diagnostic technology. This proximity fosters an integrated care ecosystem where primary care, specialty care, and advanced cardiovascular services converge for smoother patient navigation and stronger coordination.
