Manuka - A.I Law Firm Marketing

"Attorneys today are juggling cases, trials, and business decisions - and marketing often falls to the bottom of the list," says Jake Walsh, founder of Manuka. "We've built a service suite that takes that weight off their shoulders. From AI-powered lead generation to sleek websites that convert, we're giving people-first lawyers the tools to compete with big "settlement-mill" firms without losing their personal touch.

Manuka's new offerings combine advanced artificial intelligence, strategic design, and proven marketing systems. Whether it's boosting Google visibility, automating intake, or crafting a modern brand identity, Manuka helps attorneys build stronger reputations while saving valuable time.

Manuka's new offerings are designed around the real frustrations lawyers voice every day: "I don't have time for more clients," "I don't know how to raise my fees without losing business," "I'm too busy with documentation," "I can't keep up with competitors." The agency's systems directly solve these challenges by qualifying leads, automating intake and documents, boosting authority, and making law firms more visible online.
