ARE HERE: a Dylan Brody Project swept the indie festival circuit, taking dozens of awards and screenings around the world. It streams on the Circuit Cinema service, specializing in art films.

Brody's long-form storytelling specials highlight his evolving exploration of wit and wordplay. Thinking Allowed, his most current work and the first to incorporate original songs in his live performance, currently books evenings and weekends around the country, and earlier productions include Corner of Starbucks and Christopher Street, More Arts/Less Martial, and The Wereshmuck: Transformations of a Moron.

The International Order of Fantastic Professionals (IOFP) is thrilled to welcome Dylan Brody as the newest member of its global fellowship of visionary leaders. In recognition of his extraordinary contributions to the arts and his unique ability to blend humor with depth, Brody has been named the recipient of the 2025 Pen and Punchline Award.

"I'm honored and frankly delighted to be joining the IOFP," said Brody. "To be recognized by an organization that celebrates both excellence and purpose feels like a rare and beautiful validation. I look forward to contributing to this community of world-changers and occasionally making them laugh until they cry. Or pee. The loss of fluid is important to me."
