

Flight Ready Academy Launches Online Training for Aspiring Flight Attendants

Veronica Brown, with nearly three decades of airline experience, launches Flight Ready Academy to prepare aspiring flight attendants for career success.

PHOENIX, AZ, UNITED STATES, September 9, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Phoenix, AZ – Flight Ready Academy, founded by aviation veteran Veronica Brown, proudly announces the launch of its comprehensive online training program designed to prepare aspiring flight attendants for one of the most exciting and competitive careers in the world.

Veronica Brown's Book INDISPUTABLE - An African American Flight Attendant Experience

With nearly three decades of professional airline experience, including service with major U.S. carriers, Brown created Flight Ready Academy to fill a critical gap in career readiness. While airlines provide in-house training after hiring, many applicants struggle to stand out in the interview process and meet rigorous professional expectations. Flight Ready Academy bridges that gap, offering a self-paced, interactive, and FAA-informed curriculum built by industry experts.

When I began my flight attendant career in 1998, I wished a program like this existed. Flight Ready Academy is my way of giving back and empowering the next generation to soar.”

Veronica Brown

“When I started my career in 1998, I wished there was a program like this to guide me,” said Veronica Brown, Founder & CEO. “Now it’s my time to give back, empower the next generation, and open doors for those who dream of flying.”

The seven-module program includes:

History of Flight Attendants, with a special focus on Black and Brown aviation pioneers

Hiring & Interview Preparation

Professionalism & Customer Service
Essentials

FAA Safety Standards and Emergency Basics

Real-world simulations and knowledge checks

A final assessment with certification of completion

The online platform is designed for flexible study and features videos, interactive lessons, and real-world insights that prepare students before they ever step into an airline interview.
The curriculum emphasizes diversity, equity, and inclusion, highlighting the challenges and achievements of minorities in aviation.

Introductory pricing starts at just $797, with early-bird enrollment discounts available ahead of the official launch on October 15, 2025. High schools, colleges, and CTE programs are also invited to partner with Flight Ready Academy to provide students with career-ready aviation training.
