

New Back to School E-book Offers Success Strategies For Autism and Special Needs Parents

Autism Coach and Author Deanna Picon Provides Expert Tips For A Successful School Year

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, September 17, 2025

/EINPresswire.com/ -- As students across the country head back to school, parents of special needs children may feel overwhelmed and anxious about their child's education. Deanna Picon, a renowned author and expert in the field of special needs parenting, has released a new e-book to offer support and guidance to these parents. "Special Needs Student Success: How to Have A Great School Year With Your Autistic Child" offers realistic strategies and practical advice for parents to successfully navigate the challenges of the new academic year. It is now available at amazon.com.

Picon, who is also the founder of Your Autism Coach LLC, understands the unique challenges that parents face. In her new e-book, she shares her expertise and insights to empower parents and give them the knowledge, tools and guidance they need to support their child's education.

"As a parent of a non-verbal, young man with autism, I understand the concerns and frustrations that come with navigating the special education system," says Picon. "I wrote this e-book with the goal of providing parents with the direction and encouragement they need to help their child thrive in school."

One unique aspect of the e-book is the inclusion of motivational quotes to provide hope and inspiration to parents. Picon believes that emotional support is just as important as practical strategies when it comes to helping special needs children succeed in school. The e-book also addresses common challenges that parents may face, such as communicating effectively with teachers and school staff, advocating for their child's needs, and managing stress and self-care.
