LGBTQ+ pride festival entertainment with family-friendly activities including live music, food, fun, and live acts!"

Renowned by festival goers near and far, Pride Under The Pines is one of Idyllwild's most well-attended annual events and has become a cherished tradition in this beautiful high-desert town. Providing an annual destination for LGBTQ+ allies from all across Southern California to make new friends, dance, laugh, and stand proudly as one. Pride Under The Pines was founded in 2021, "out of love for Idyllwild and a sense of community," and was conceived in response to limitations brought about by COVID—as two gay entrepreneurs from Palm Springs, Niels and Jeremy, fell in love with the town of Idyllwild rustic charm and towering pine trees, and got together and said, — "We're coming out: out into the open and up on the mountain for the first ever Pride Under the Pines."

Since PS HomeBoys' first Pride Under the Pines, their event has welcomed thousands of festival guests, and each year it increases in popularity, attendance, and continues to grow exponentially because of its loyal fan base, which consists of passionate + prideful California residents. "At a time when equality and rights are under threat, showing up matters more than ever. By joining us, you're not just having an unforgettable day filled with live music, food, dragtastic entertainment and joy—you're helping keep this prideful event alive in a time when LGBTQ+ rights are being threatened more than ever." Jeremy Taylor, PS HomeBoys owner, and event co-founder, commented.

Proudly continuing without the support of state funding, their grassroots organization has built a movement based on the belief in creating a space for people to come together as one family. "At Pride Under The Pines, our goal is to provide a safe and inspiring place to uplift and support the LGBTQ+ community. Your support makes all the difference and helps keep our communities, allies, and families thriving for years to come. We honor every color, every truth, and every beautiful soul who shows up authentically. This is our reminder to live unapologetically, stand boldly, and accept every part of ourselves—flaws and all—and to embrace equality, visibility, by creating joyful safe-spaces for all." Jeremy added.

Pride Under The Pines 2025 musical headliner, known for iconic songs "There Must Be Love", is the one and only Janice Robinson! Robinson's sultry voice and electric dance moves will light up the stage and have you dancing in the aisles. "It is an honour to be the headliner at Pride Under
