

Ground Zero Volunteer Vet Debuts 9/11 Tribute to Rescue Dogs

Ground Zero volunteer Dr. Kevin Lynch premieres a YouTube tribute to 9/11 K-9 search teams; watch Sept 11 at 6:30 a.m. ET.

CENTER MORICHES, NY, UNITED STATES, September 10, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Dr. Kevin Lynch, a Long Island veterinarian who volunteered at Ground Zero, is debuting a short YouTube tribute that honors the search-and-rescue dogs and the handlers who worked alongside first responders after 9/11. The video premieres on The Pet Mindset Show on September 11 at 6:30 a.m. ET.

Dr. Kevin Lynch premieres a 9/11 tribute honoring Ground Zero search-and-rescue dogs and their handlers.

We showed up to care for the dogs who cared for us. This tribute is a simple thank you to the K-9 teams, their handlers, and the first responders who gave us hope when hope was hard to find.”

Dr. Kevin Lynch

In the piece, Dr. Lynch offers a quiet, first-person look at the work done for K-9 teams in lower Manhattan. He recalls street-side triage, hydration, eye and ear care, and tending to minor wounds while crews searched through debris. The tribute is meant to remember the dogs, the handlers, and the families who bore the weight of that day.

I did what I could to support the dogs and the people who depended on them,” said Dr. Kevin Lynch, DVM. “This video is my thank-you. It is for the K-9 teams, the first responders, and every family that held this city together.
