

Multifamily Industry Veteran Jeremy Edmiston Appointed as Executive Director of the Community Growth Foundation

Based in Dallas, Edmiston most recently worked at Cushman & Wakefield as executive managing director for the firm's Build-to-Rent platform.

DENVER, CO, UNITED STATES, September 12, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Community Growth Foundation is pleased to announce the appointment of Jeremy Edmiston as Executive Director. In this role, Jeremy will provide vision and leadership across the foundation's four strategic pillars: redemptive investment, multi-housing ministry, faith-based property management education, and community partnerships.

"We are thrilled to welcome Jeremy Edmiston as the Executive Director of the Community Growth Foundation," said David Snyder, President of Community Growth Foundation and Chairman of Continental Realty Group, a Denver-based multifamily investment firm. "This is an exciting season of expansion and unprecedented impact, and Jeremy's leadership will play a vital role in shaping CGF's future nationwide. I am deeply grateful to have such a high-caliber executive leading our team."

Before joining the Community Growth Foundation, Edmiston served as Executive Managing Director, U.S. Lead for the Build-to-Rent sector of Cushman & Wakefield's Asset Services platform, where he led the BTR platform for both asset services and capital markets. He also served on the executive committee for Cushman & Wakefield's Multifamily Asset Services platform and spearheaded Cushman & Wakefield Community, the firm's nationwide community service initiative.

Edmiston first joined Cushman & Wakefield in 2012 to lead the Client Services Group, having
