

Studycat Head of Learning Jake Whiddon appointed Education Advisor to WAH Foundation

Partnership expands access to quality language learning programs in rural Cambodia through proven educational technology

HONG KONG, HONG KONG, September 12, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Studycat announces that Jake Whiddon, Head of Learning, has been appointed Education Advisor to WAH Foundation on a voluntary basis. This partnership strengthens ongoing collaboration between Studycat, WAH Foundation, and The Atlas Foundation to improve children's English language learning opportunities in rural Cambodia.

With 20 years of Asia education experience, Whiddon brings expertise in young learner programs, teacher training, school operations, and educational technology implementation to WAH's mission of improving lives through education, water, and healthcare in rural communities.

The appointment supports WAH's Language Learning Lab in Kampong Chhnang, which completed its first pilot year with measurable outcomes. The program demonstrates how research-backed apps can address children's language learning and educational challenges in underserved communities.

Whiddon's hands-on approach will help expand evidence-based programs through training, partner connections, and research validation. His role demonstrates how educational technology companies can support community-based initiatives while maintaining focus on measurable results.

Studycat's ongoing support includes providing Studycat English app access, expertise, and Jake
