Industry Challenges in Retail Data Management

Retailers encounter several operational challenges when handling large-scale data internally:

1. Inconsistent or delayed product information updates across platforms

2. High error rates from manual entry and limited quality control

3. Difficulty managing seasonal spikes and multiple sales channels

4. Inefficient record-keeping impacting reporting and compliance

5. Limited resources for structured data conversion and digitization

These challenges often lead to inaccurate reporting, lost revenue, and reduced operational efficiency.
