

Truck1: Top Marketplace for Greater Success in International Truck Trade

Truck1 stimulates global truck trade: dealers expand their visibility, attract qualified leads, and strengthen international sales.

UNITED KINGDOM, September 16, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The international trade of used commercial vehicles presents dealers with numerous challenges: varying market conditions, fluctuating demand, and the need to make listings visible quickly and efficiently. One company successfully overcoming these obstacles is Euro Nor A/S, based in Padborg, Denmark. Thanks to its partnership with the Truck1 platform, the dealer has significantly expanded its international presence.

From Local Dealer to Global Visibility

Euro Nor has been active in the used truck and commercial vehicle market since 2009. The company sells around 600 vehicles annually. To remain competitive in this demanding environment, the dealership has relied on Truck1 for several years — one of Europe's leading platforms for trading used trucks and utility vehicles.

Through targeted ad placements and country-specific marketing, the Danish seller reaches potential buyers exactly where they are searching. The platform ensures optimal visibility among a knowledgeable and purchase-ready audience across Europe.

Efficient Processes and Personal Support

Another major advantage of Truck1 is its technical integration: vehicle data is automatically transferred to the platform via interfaces. This saves time, minimizes errors, and keeps listings up to date. The service is complemented by personal support — from optimizing listings to managing advertising campaigns, the Truck1 team actively assists the dealer throughout the process.

Since the beginning of the partnership, the Danish seller has recorded a significant increase in qualified inquiries. Prospects come with clear buying intentions — shortening the sales process and improving conversion rates. The company has also gained visibility in markets that were previously difficult to reach — a clear competitive advantage in the global marketplace.

About Truck1

Truck1 is one of Europe's leading marketplaces for used trucks, commercial vehicles, and construction equipment. Since 2003, the platform has been connecting professional dealers with an international audience of industry buyers. With over 250,000 listings, more than 35 language versions, and around 4 million monthly visitors, Truck1 is a key sales channel in the commercial vehicle sector. Dealers benefit from automated data integration, transparent pricing, and targeted advertising solutions.
