“We chose Mina as Gan Jing World's very first exclusive original film release in North America because its story is full of hope and positive values close to our hearts. We truly hope this film touches the lives of children and families in a meaningful way—especially at a time when the online environment is overwhelmed with unhealthy content,” says Dr. Yin at Mina's premiere event in New York.

Produced by Magic Frame Pictures and Creation Entertainment Media, Mina reinvents the fairy tale genre with humor, adventure, and heartwarming lessons designed to uplift families and children.

“This story and its unique characters from diverse cultural backgrounds, stand out from other fairytale. Inspired by aspects of some of the most beloved fairytales, the film has so much to offer including an inspiring brave princess, an array of breathtaking locations, spectacular visual effects, and a whole lot of action! We are excited to bring this original film to audiences in North America through our great partner Gan Jing World who shares great traditional value and mission which aligns with us,” comments Lidia Chirita, Producer at Magic Frame Animation.

In this modern twist on a classic fairy tale, a headstrong princess is kidnapped by an evil sorcerer. While her scholarly fiancé embarks on an epic quest and must use his wits to rescue her, she refuses to wait—boldly challenging her captors and plotting a daring escape.

Directed by award-winning filmmaker, Alex Tsitsilin (The Snow Queen series), and written by Analisa LaBianco (Beverly Hills Chihuahua) and Jeffery Spencer (Secret Magic Control Agency), the film features a cast including Alyson Leigh Rosenfeld, Dan Edwards, and Vanessa Johansson, with an original score by Sefi Carmel. The animated movie has been praised as “a modern fairy tale for a new generation.”

The film tells a story of a princess, Mina, who is kidnapped by an evil sorcerer targeting princesses. Her father promises that whoever can rescue her can have his daughter’s hand in marriage and inherit the kingdom. While her suitors and the scholar Ronan, to whom she has already promised to marry, venture into the unknown to rescue her. Mina, a heroine who refuses to wait for rescue, and other captured princesses take their rescue into their own hands.

“Princess Mina embodies resilience and independence. She not only stands strong on her own but also lovingly guides her friends through challenges, always putting their needs before her own,” adds Dr. Yin. “This compassionate spirit perfectly reflects Gan Jing Kids’ mission to nurture
