Focusing on Education and Prevention

Digestive health plays a critical role in overall wellness, yet many gastrointestinal conditions can remain undetected until they cause significant symptoms. Beverly Hills Gastroenterology emphasizes the importance of proactive screening and early diagnosis.

Key areas of care include:

- Colon Cancer Screening & Prevention – Highlighting the importance of regular colonoscopies and minimally invasive screening options to identify early signs of disease.

- GERD & Acid Reflux Management – Educating patients on lifestyle modifications and treatment strategies to alleviate chronic reflux symptoms.

- IBS & Functional GI Disorders – Offering personalized plans to address complex digestive issues that affect daily life.

- Inflammatory Bowel Disease (Crohn's & Ulcerative Colitis) – Providing long-term management strategies that support patient stability and quality of life.

- Advanced Endoscopic Diagnostics – Using state-of-the-art imaging and technology for accurate, minimally invasive evaluations.

“As physicians, our role extends beyond treatment—we aim to help people understand their digestive health and recognize when to seek care,” said Dr. Peyton Berookim, Medical Director of Beverly Hills Gastroenterology. “Our new space allows us to better serve the community with education, prevention, and compassionate, evidence-based medicine.”

Dr. Berookim and his team advocate for greater awareness around gastrointestinal health, encouraging routine screenings and open discussions about digestive symptoms that often go overlooked. Their approach integrates medical expertise with patient education to empower individuals to make informed choices about their care.

Located in the heart of Beverly Hills’ medical district, the expanded office provides increased accessibility, shorter wait times, and a supportive environment aimed at reducing anxiety surrounding medical visits.
