

Epos Now CEO, Jacyn Heavens, Wins Private CEO of the Year Award

LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, September 15, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Epos Now is proud to announce that its Founder and CEO, Jacyn Heavens, has been named CEO of the Year at the 2025 BDO Private Business Awards. The awards celebrate the backbone of the UK economy: more than 5.55 million private businesses that employ 27 million people and generate over £4.5 trillion in turnover. They recognise leaders whose vision, resilience and people-first approach are driving growth and innovation nationwide.

For Jacyn Heavens, the accolade reflects not only his leadership, but also the talent and dedication of the Epos Now team and the 100,000+ merchants worldwide who use the company's technology to run their businesses every day. Together, this community processes tens of billions in annual transaction value, powering local economies across retail and hospitality.

"Every customer we support inspires us to keep pushing the boundaries of what's possible," said Jacyn Heavens, CEO of Epos Now. "This award belongs as much to them as it does to myself and our team, because their challenges and successes drive everything we do."

At a time when many businesses are facing economic headwinds, Epos Now continues to invest in innovation. The company is expanding embedded finance and integrated payments solutions, alongside the development of AI-driven business tools that help merchants simplify operations, gain sharper insights, accelerate growth and seize new opportunities with confidence. These advances increase knowledge and improve the chances of long-term success.

This award recognises not only individual leadership but also the collective achievement of the Epos Now team and its merchant community. Together they are shaping the future of commerce and showing the vital role of private businesses in driving growth, innovation and prosperity across the UK.
