

TECKNEXUS Issues Final Call for Private Network Leadership Awards 2025, Winners Recognized at MWC Las Vegas

Nominations close Sept 30. Winners announced first week of October, honoring innovation and leadership in private 5G/LTE/CBRS deployments.

SAN JOSE, CA, UNITED STATES, September 15, 2025 / EINPresswire.com/ -- TECKNEXUS today issued a final call for nominations for the Private Network Leadership Awards 2025, recognizing the most impactful deployments of private 5G/LTE/CBRS across industries.

Winners will be announced the first week of October and then recognized on stage at MWC Las Vegas 2025 on Tuesday, October 14, 2025, from 4:30–5:30 PM PDT at the Tech Talks Stage – Town Square (Booth 122).

The awards celebrate organizations that have demonstrated measurable business outcomes, resilience, and innovation through private network deployments. Unlike public 5G, private networks offer enterprises dedicated bandwidth, enhanced security, and low-latency performance for mission-critical operations.

These awards celebrate enterprises and partners proving the real value of private 5G, LTE, and CBRS networks. From greater control and security to unlocking new automation and operational models, private networks are moving beyond trials to delivering measurable business outcomes across industries.” — Hema Kadia, Founder & CEO, TeckNexus

WHO SHOULD APPLY

The awards are open to enterprises and industrial end-users, technology vendors and OEMs, mobile operators and neutral hosts, system integrators, startups, hyperscalers, and public-sector agencies.

WHAT MAKES A WINNING ENTRY

Submissions are evaluated on use-case clarity and relevance; innovation and practicality of the solution; network technology justification (5G/LTE/CBRS); tangible benefits and KPIs; broader industry impact; clarity of company roles and partner collaboration; current deployment status and roadmap; and strength of supporting evidence such as references, videos, and external validation.

CALL FOR NOMINATIONS

Enterprises, technology vendors, operators, and ecosystem partners are encouraged to submit nominations before the September 30 deadline. Each entry is an opportunity to gain global recognition, be featured in industry-leading publications, and share success with peers and decision-makers shaping the future of private networks. The nomination form, judging criteria, and submission guidelines can be found on the Private Network Leadership Awards 2025 page.

MEET TECKNEXUS AT MWC LAS VEGAS

Beyond the awards recognition, TeckNexus will host meetings throughout MWC Las Vegas 2025 to connect with enterprises, operators, and technology innovators on readiness assessments, ecosystem partnerships, and strategic collaborations.
