

Westchester Plastic Surgeon Featured in New York Times as 2025 Super Doctor®

Dr. Neal Goldberg, a board-certified NYC plastic surgeon, was named a Super Doctor® for 2025, marking his recognition in the publication for two years running.

NEW YORK CITY, NY, UNITED STATES, September 16, 2025 / EINPresswire.com/ -- For many years, patients and consumers have looked to the annual compilation of Super Doctors® to find the most trusted and well-qualified healthcare providers in the New York metropolitan region. Compiled by leading research publication MSP Communications, the yearly Super Doctors® list highlights the most exceptional physicians and surgeons in a given region across 47 different medical specialties. In its 18th annual report, Dr. Neal Goldberg — a Westchester-based board-certified aesthetic and reconstructive surgeon — was granted the Super Doctor® distinction for the second year in a row, with his recognition featured in a special subsection of the New York Times.

Dr. Goldberg — whose practice specializes in abdominoplasty, breast reduction, and rhinoplasty, among other aesthetic procedures — was selected through a rigorous multi-step process that includes peer nominations, professional achievement, and independent research. The highest-scoring candidates are included in the Super Doctors® roster, which distinguishes the top five percent of medical specialists in New York state.

The Super Doctors® honor underscores Dr. Goldberg's reputation for delivering exceptional results in both cosmetic and reconstructive plastic surgery, as well as his commitment to patient safety and compassionate care. On top of this year's Super Doctors® distinction, Dr. Goldberg was also named a 2025 Castle Connolly Top Doctor® and "Best Doctor" by New York magazine and Westchester magazine. Dr. Goldberg is actively involved in education and medical research, further contributing to advancements in the field of plastic and reconstructive surgery.
