Collectibles Auctions

The world of retro gaming and collectibles is about to level up.

InsertBid.com, a brand-new auction platform built by collectors, for collectors, has officially launched. With zero seller fees, gamified bidding, and specialized shipping for rare items, InsertBid is reimagining how fans connect with nostalgia and pop culture treasures.

InsertBid is the collector’s marketplace we always wanted—fun, fair, and community-driven, with no hidden fees or gatekeepers, just trusted access to rare gaming and pop culture history.”

Adri, InsertBid’s Brand Ambassador

A Booming Market with Untapped Potential

The collectibles industry is massive — with estimates putting its value at more than $300 billion worldwide — and it’s only growing as nostalgia fuels demand for rare items. From sealed Nintendo cartridges and vintage Pokémon cards to comic books, toys, and pop culture memorabilia, fans are spending more than ever to recapture pieces of their childhood.

Yet for all that demand, collectors have long been stuck with outdated platforms that prioritize profit over people. Seller fees eat into earnings, logistics can be unreliable, and auctions often lack the fun and community that make collecting so special. InsertBid was created to change that.

What Makes InsertBid Different

- InsertBid.com is not just another auction site — it's a community-driven experience designed around the needs of collectors.
- Zero Seller Fees – Sellers keep 100% of their final bids, creating more trust and participation.
- Gamified Auctions – InsertBid adds arcade-style fun with badges, points, and live events, turning auctions into an interactive experience.
- Specialized Shipping – Tailored solutions ensure the safe delivery of high-value collectibles, from graded games and consoles to statues, prototypes, and sealed VHS tapes.
- By Collectors, for Collectors – Founded by enthusiasts who grew up in the 80s and 90s gaming scene, InsertBid is rooted in passion, not corporate profit.

A Platform Built for the Community

InsertBid aims to do more than host auctions. It's building a hub for collectors to interact, share knowledge, and celebrate the culture of retro games and collectibles. Plans include AMA-style events with industry figures, collaborations with influencers, and live-streamed auctions that recreate the thrill of discovering a hidden gem at a convention.

"We're building the platform we always wished existed as collectors," says Adri, InsertBid's Brand Ambassador. "Collecting should be fun, fair, and community-driven. With InsertBid, there are no hidden fees, no gatekeepers — just a trusted marketplace for fans to chase the rarest pieces of gaming and pop culture history."

A New Era of Auctions

InsertBid arrives at a time when the nostalgia wave is reshaping entertainment. From the resurgence of vinyl records to the popularity of retro gaming conventions, consumers are eager to reconnect with the past. Auctions play a unique role in this trend, offering not just products but stories — the thrill of the chase, the satisfaction of winning, and the pride of ownership.

InsertBid leans into that culture, blending the excitement of bidding with modern digital features. The platform's gamification adds an extra layer of fun, while its focus on community ensures that collectors — not corporations — remain at the heart of the experience.

Opportunities for Sellers, Collectors, and Partners

For sellers, InsertBid eliminates the pain points of traditional platforms by removing fees and offering specialized shipping support. For buyers, it creates a safer, more engaging environment to find everything from sealed NES classics and Pokémon cards to arcade signs, statues, and original video game art.

InsertBid also welcomes media outlets, influencers, and community leaders to collaborate on coverage, features, and partnerships that highlight the stories behind the collectibles. Whether it's a rare prototype surfacing in an online auction or a record-breaking sale of a sealed cartridge, InsertBid is positioned to be a source of compelling stories for both niche and mainstream audiences.
