"Our global market expansion is a strategic move that was driven by the growing needs of global enterprises to have more structure and technology integration processes," said Nikhil Agarwal, Founder of BPX. "We are a space offering services, we are a space about results. The key differentiator between BPX and other business process management consulting firms is our ability to blend in-depth analytical thinking with practical business thinking."

BPX's services are global and include Business Process Management \(BPM\), standard operating procedures (SOP) development, digital process automation, process audits, and tailored BPM strategies. BPX is platform agnostic, delivering solutions on diverse tools, as appropriate for a client's ecosystem.

With businesses worldwide continuing to manage volatile markets, rising costs, and uncertain client expectations, BPX exists to provide a sustainable competitive advantage. Their BPM solutions are intended to link business strategy to operational execution. No matter if a company is looking for digital transformation, expansion, or efficiency improvements, BPX offers a defined methodology towards expertly mapped and optimized processes.

As Rupal Agarwal, Co-founder of BPX, quoted, "We consider process management to be the foundation of sustainable business growth. Our aspiration on a global traverse isn't simply to reach different markets – it's to help more organizations become agile, resilient, and greatness-oriented in their business models as they scale. We provide business empathy, balanced with technical precision."

BPX's international efforts come at an ideal time to offer measurable solutions while many business process management consulting firms struggle with moving beyond theory, to deliver value-based, measurable deliverables.

The company also keeps investing in the training and technology that supports its consultants and clients across the globe. BPX offers on-site and remote consulting services with a specialized team of BPM certified professionals, analysts, and technology professionals to ensure clients ideas, initiatives, strategic goals and outcomes advance in a continuous way across geography or firms.
