

Infinet-I Launches New Safety Training Program to Protect Light-Duty Fleets

Infinet-I launches a light-duty fleet safety program to cut liability risks, prevent nuclear verdicts, and advance its Zero Accidents mission.

TEXARKANA, TX, UNITED STATES, October 3, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Infinet-I, the proven solution in safety and training for fleets across the nation, announced the launch of a new program specifically designed to address the growing liability risks faced by fleets with light-duty vehicles.

The launch comes at a critical time as the transportation industry sees a dramatic increase in multi-million-dollar lawsuits, or 'nuclear verdicts.' These high-risk legal battles, once limited to heavy-duty trucking, now pose a significant threat to smaller commercial fleets, where a single incident involving a light-duty vehicle can be financially devastating.

The stakes have never been higher for our light-duty fleets, who now face the same devastating legal risks as the largest trucking companies”

Jay Wommack, CEO of Infinet-I

Jay Wommack, CEO of Infinet-I Workforce Solutions, stated, “This new series of training videos for light-duty vehicles is the next logical step in advancing our core mission of Zero Accidents. For more than two decades, we have equipped heavy-duty and medium-duty fleets with the tools needed to make the road safer. Now it is time to bring that same commitment and protection to the smaller vehicle fleets that form the backbone of our economy. The road to zero starts with Infinet-I.”
