

Carnegie Learning Selects Pearl as Virtual Tutoring Platform to Power 100,000+ Sessions Nationwide

RICHMOND, VA, UNITED STATES, September 24, 2025

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Pearl, a leading technology partner to districts, states, and independent tutoring providers, is proud to announce a strategic partnership with Carnegie Learning, a leader in AI-driven technology, curriculum, and professional learning solutions for K-12 education, including personalized high-impact tutoring for school districts across the country.

After an extensive evaluation and trial of platform alternatives, Carnegie Learning chose Pearl's Tutor Management System (TMS) due to its proven scalability and highly configurable data collection capabilities.

Pearl is a leading tutor management system that powers evidence-based tutoring for districts, state agencies, and independent organizations.

Since their start, Carnegie Learning's Tutoring Services has held over 260,000 live 1-on-1 and small group tutoring sessions serving over 30,000 elementary, middle and high school students across forty-four schools and districts. Together, the two organizations are also exploring AI-powered innovations aimed at further enhancing student outcomes and educator support.

Pearl's secure technology uniquely enables us to reach more students with greater efficiency and deeper insight, helping us deliver on our mission to unlock grade-level learning for all students.”

Carnegie Learning*

“We are excited to partner with Carnegie Learning, supporting their commitment to ensuring every student succeeds through engaging, focused instruction and reliable collaborations that facilitate on-grade level learning for all,” said John Failla, Founder and CEO of Pearl. “Their decision to transition to our tutor management system is a powerful validation of our commitment to seamless, scalable, and relationship-based tutoring.”

“At Carnegie Learning, we're committed to delivering high-impact, personalized math instruction for all our partners, including Departments of Education in Massachusetts & Arkansas, and school districts such as Palm Springs USD and East Central ISD. To be successful, we must have a platform we can trust,” said Courtney Lewis, Vice President of Tutoring Services at Carnegie Learning. “Pearl’s secure technology uniquely enables us to reach more students with greater efficiency and deeper insight, helping us deliver on our mission to unlock grade-level learning for all students.”

The partnership showcases Pearl’s ability to serve as a backbone for major tutoring initiatives, offering real-time session management, robust data reporting, and tools built for district compliance and success.
