Our goal is to help patients regain mobility, restore function, and improve their quality of life through personalized treatment plans and compassionate care.”

Dr. Anthony Pirritano

This expansion represents an important step in Integrated Medical Centers’ mission to provide collaborative, whole-body care throughout Southern California. The Corona facility features advanced therapeutic equipment and a team of licensed professionals trained to deliver individualized, evidence-based treatments.

Integrated Physical Therapy offers a full range of services including rehabilitation for injuries, spinal decompression therapy, post-surgical recovery programs, chronic pain management, and neurological and orthopedic rehabilitation. Additional services include balance and mobility training, muscle strengthening and flexibility programs, and care for patients recovering from traumatic brain injuries or auto accidents.

“We are excited to bring this dedicated physical therapy center to the Corona community,” said Dr. Anthony Pirritano, Clinic Director at Integrated Medical Centers. “Our goal is to help patients regain mobility, restore function, and improve their quality of life through personalized treatment plans and compassionate care.”
