

Jason Ruedy, The Home Loan Arranger, Announces Drop in HELOC Interest Rates Following Federal Reserve's Decision

Jason Ruedy, The Home Loan Arranger Alerts Homeowners: Lower HELOC Interest Rates Create Prime Chance to Consolidate Debt

DENVER, CO, UNITED STATES, October 14, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Jason Ruedy, also known as The Home Loan Arranger and widely regarded as Colorado's premier mortgage expert, is urging homeowners in Denver and across Colorado to take advantage of the recent drop in HELOC interest rates following the Federal Reserve's September decision to lower the prime lending rate by 0.25%.

With these new lower interest rates, there's no better time to explore your options,” Ruedy adds”

The rate cut has triggered a significant decline in home equity line of credit (HELOC) rates, opening the door for homeowners to consolidate debt, fund home improvement projects, or access cash for other major expenses — all while saving money.

“This is a huge opportunity for Colorado homeowners,” says Ruedy. “With the Federal Reserve lowering the prime lending rate, variable interest HELOCs have dropped as well. That means homeowners can borrow against their home equity at a lower cost and potentially save thousands over the life of the loan.”

A HELOC allows homeowners to tap into the equity in their homes and repay the borrowed funds over time, often with more flexibility and lower monthly payments than traditional loans. Because HELOC interest rates are typically tied to the prime lending rate, they move directly with Federal Reserve decisions — and today's market presents one of the most favorable borrowing conditions in years.

As the founder and president of The Home Loan Arranger, Jason Ruedy has spent over three decades helping homeowners navigate the mortgage industry and find the best mortgage solutions available. His trusted expertise has made him a go-to mortgage advisor for those seeking to refinance a HELOC, consolidate debt, or secure financing for home renovations.

“With these new lower interest rates, there’s no better time to explore your options,” Ruedy adds. “Whether you’re looking to refinance an existing HELOC or open a new line of credit, Denver homeowners have a unique chance to improve their financial position.”
