

Grand Canyon West Debuts All-Access to Culture and Adventure

The new all-in-one pass makes exploring the West Rim easier than ever

PEACH SPRINGS, AZ, UNITED STATES, September 24, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Grand Canyon West, owned and operated by the Hualapai Tribe, is enhancing the All-Access Pass with a focus on celebrating Hualapai culture alongside its signature adventures. The $99 all-in-one ticket offers visitors the chance to experience breathtaking views, thrilling activities, and immersive cultural exhibits in a single day.

Located just two hours from Las Vegas, Grand Canyon West offers something unique: direct access to the living traditions of the Hualapai people. Through storytelling, exhibits, art, and dance, guests can gain a deeper understanding of the Tribe's history and connection to the land.

"Grand Canyon West is more than a destination, it's a chance to connect with the Hualapai people and culture," said Paul McGuire, Chief Marketing & Revenue Officer for Grand Canyon Resort Corporation. "The All-Access Pass makes it easier than ever for guests to enjoy our full spectrum of experiences, from the Skywalk and zipline to authentic cultural exhibits and family activities."

The All-Access Pass includes:

- General admission to Grand Canyon West
- Access to the world-famous Skywalk, a glass bridge suspended 4,000 feet above the canyon floor
- Rides on the hop-on, hop-off shuttle to scenic viewpoints including Eagle Point and Guano Point
- Zipline adventure (available on a first-come, first-served basis)
- $10 meal voucher at on-site dining locations
