Fans enjoy baseball, country music, and community giving in Corpus Christi

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES,
September 25, 2025 /

EINPresswire.com/ -- Whataburger Field was alive with baseball, country music, and community spirit on Thursday night as fans packed the stadium for the Corpus Christi Hooks game followed by a high-energy postgame concert from country star Dustin Lynch. The one-night-only event was made possible through a partnership between Thomas J. Henry and Whataburger Field, creating a seamless blend of sports, entertainment, and philanthropy.

The Hooks took the field against the Wichita Wind Surge at 6:35 p.m., with thousands of fans staying late into the evening for the concert that kicked off immediately after the final out. Admission to the show was included with the game ticket, drawing a capacity crowd that filled the ballpark with excitement from the first pitch to the last song.

Beyond the entertainment, the evening carried a deeper purpose: supporting first responders. Throughout the night, attendees entered prize giveaways, and for every entry submitted, Thomas J. Henry donated to the National First Responders Training Complex (NFRTC).
