Why Security Operations Cannot Be Ignored

Organizations without SOC or SIEM capabilities tend to experience delayed threat detection, compliance breaches, expensive breaches, and overburdened IT staff. The lack of skilled cybersecurity personnel, increasing regulatory requirements, and the financial burden of implementing in-house SOCs—typically levels in the millions of dollars a year leaves firms extremely exposed. Failing to implement effective SOC operations not only enhances the threat of cyberattacks but also leaves businesses at the mercy of regulatory penalties, process inefficiencies, and reputational risk.

Common Risks of Neglecting SOC and SIEM:

1. Delayed detection of critical threats due to lack of log correlation
