Delivering Innovation, Leadership, and
Impact Across Military and Civilian Sectors

Recognized by Influential Women and featured in its 2025 edition, LeAnn Daley is a distinguished Program Analyst at CALIBRE Systems, Inc., bringing extensive expertise in military operations, accounting, and healthcare advocacy to her role, which supports the Department of Defense and the U.S. Army. With a Top-Secret Clearance, LeAnn navigates complex government operations with precision, managing intricate budgets, Army property, and critical equipment while delivering high-impact initiatives that strengthen mission outcomes.

At CALIBRE Systems, LeAnn is instrumental in training and coaching personnel on the OSMIS Web platform, ensuring efficient processing of data and property management. She also provides critical support for the Department of Defense's Cost Element Structure (CES) data, mapping information accurately to safeguard financial reporting integrity and optimize operational outcomes. Her proficiency extends to developing OSMIS Web data load measurements, reflecting her strong command of IT systems and data management practices.

Certified in CompTIA Security+ and as an AWS Certified Cloud Practitioner, LeAnn blends technical expertise with strategic problem-solving, quality assurance, and continuous improvement. Her career trajectory—from military service as a Warrant Officer to program management and consulting—demonstrates her unwavering commitment to excellence, leadership, and mentorship. She attributes her success to persistence, adaptability, and a focus on continuous growth. "During my time as a Warrant Officer in the Army, I learned that true leadership is about service—helping others succeed,” LeAnn reflects. “There was no greater reward than having a junior Soldier return to say, ‘Thank you, Chief, you really helped me.’ Those moments reinforced that success is measured not only by personal achievements but also by the positive impact we make on others.”

The best career advice LeAnn ever received was to never be afraid to step outside her comfort zone. Embracing challenges and taking calculated risks has consistently propelled her growth, opening doors to opportunities she might never have imagined. She encourages young women entering the industry to invest in themselves, seize every opportunity, and persevere even when the path is challenging. “The race isn’t for the swift but for those who endure,” she notes. “Success comes from persistence, resilience, and the courage to keep moving forward, even when the path isn’t easy. Believe in your ability to grow, embrace every opportunity, and don’t let anyone place limits on what you can achieve.”

LeAnn also identifies collaboration across diverse teams as both a challenge and an opportunity. Bridging the language and procedural gaps between military, civilian, and technical stakeholders can be complex, yet doing so strengthens partnerships, enhances operational efficiency, and delivers superior results for every mission.

In both her professional and personal life, LeAnn is guided by values of hard work, family, and lifelong growth. Beyond her career, she pursues creative projects, mentors colleagues, and actively engages with her community, applying the same passion, discipline, and commitment that have defined her professional journey. Through her leadership, technical expertise, and unwavering dedication, LeAnn Daley continues to inspire excellence and set a standard for success in both the defense and consulting sectors.
