Infertility affects millions of couples each year, with as many as one in six experiencing challenges, and male factors accounting for nearly half of those cases. Despite this, semen analysis is often overlooked during the initial work-up, delaying answers for patients and driving up costs with unnecessary interventions. Post-vasectomy care faces similar barriers: studies show 30–50% of men never complete a semen analysis to confirm sterility, creating avoidable risks for patients and practices alike.

Mate Health addresses these gaps in care with discreet, at-home collection and testing in a CLIA/CAP-certified andrology lab that delivers accurate, physician-trusted results directly to patients and their physicians. By partnering with Mate Health, CompareMedsRx expands access to advanced fertility and post-vasectomy testing across its network of employers, benefit providers, and patients seeking affordable, convenient care.

“At CompareMedsRx, we are constantly looking for innovative solutions that provide meaningful value to our clients,” said Hiten Gardi, CEO of CompareMedsRx. “By adding Mate Health’s at-home fertility and post-vasectomy testing to our platform, we can offer a unique service that closes critical shortfalls in reproductive care while aligning with our commitment to convenience and transparency.”

The integrated digital platform streamlines every step, from kit ordering, secure shipping, physician-trusted lab analysis, and results delivery. Patients receive an easy-to-understand report with explanations powered by MateIQ, Mate Health’s AI assistant, while physicians receive a detailed clinical report to support decision-making.

“CompareMedsRx shares our mission of removing barriers in healthcare by making essential services accessible, affordable, and easy to use,” said Paul Jurgensen, CEO and Co-Founder of Mate Health. “This partnership enables advanced male fertility and post-vasectomy testing to be delivered directly to patients through a trusted platform, with the same clinical precision physicians expect from an in-clinic lab.”
