

Richmond Health Care Center Achieves Deficiency-Free State Survey

Richmond Health Care Center in Richmond TX receives deficiency free survey

RICHMOND, TX, UNITED STATES, October 1, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Richmond Health Care Center, a nonprofit skilled nursing and rehabilitation facility, is proud to announce the successful completion of its annual state survey by the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) with zero deficiencies.

This exceptional achievement means that during the comprehensive survey process, which evaluates compliance with hundreds of state and federal standards, no deficiencies were cited. A deficiency-free survey is a rare accomplishment in the skilled nursing industry and reflects the highest level of care, safety, and compliance.

"This recognition is a true testament to the dedication of our entire team," said Takeysha Jones, Administrator of Richmond Health Care Center. "Every day, our staff delivers compassionate, high-quality care to our residents. Achieving a deficiency-free survey validates our ongoing commitment to excellence and our nonprofit mission of serving the community.”

“We are incredibly proud of the Richmond team for this outstanding accomplishment,” said Josh White, CEO of Health Services Management. “At HSM, our goal is to provide compassionate, person-centered care across all our communities. Achievements like this remind us of the impact we have when we work together to support residents and families with excellence and heart.”

Commitment to Excellence

The annual state survey conducted by AHCA covers a wide range of quality measures, including resident care, safety standards, staff training, clinical protocols, infection control, and regulatory compliance. To complete this process without a single citation demonstrates the outstanding professionalism and teamwork of the Richmond Health Care Center staff.
