Information security strategy and management is NOT a “one-size-fits-all” endeavor. Organizations require solutions that fit their specific needs and meet them where they are.”

Andrew Hornback, CEO and Founder, Hornback Strategic Services LLC

Services LLC (HSS) proudly announced its official launch today at the start of National Cybersecurity Awareness Month. Founded by Andrew Hornback, HSS was created to address the needs of the Defense Industrial Base’s small- and medium-sized enterprises to achieve their regulatory, compliance and information security (IS) business objectives.

Specializing in strategic, world-class IS and mission assurance leadership, HSS’ expertise includes Cybersecurity Maturity Model Certification (CMMC), NIST-centered Risk and Gap Assessment Methodologies, bespoke information security/technology (IS/IT) strategy design and management, enterprise-grade mission assurance planning and testing, and incident response, disaster recovery and business continuity program design.

HSS is set apart from its competition for its agility, responsiveness and commitment to national security. Much of this is due to CEO and Founder Andrew Hornback’s diverse background and forward-thinking mindset after 30-plus years in the industry. It enables HSS to deliver strategic innovation and leadership that emphasizes a holistic and tailored approach.

“Information security strategy and management is NOT a “one-size-fits-all” endeavor. Organizations require solutions that fit their specific needs and meet them where they are,” said Hornback, CEO and Founder, Hornback Strategic Services LLC. “We begin every client relationship by listening closely. For us, the more that we can learn about your business, your operations, your drivers, your success criteria and your concerns, the better we can provide leadership and assistance to your organization.”
