born footwear and lifestyle brand known for color-forward, comfort-first design, will take center stage as one of six featured designers at the SOLD OUT Marin Fashion Night on Saturday, October 4, 2025. The evening—produced by SONAS with fashion director Charleston Pierce—brings together runway, live music, and visual art at the Headlands Center for the Arts.

Kandi Cota’s runway presentation will spotlight the brand’s signature fusion of luxe materials, painterly palettes, and utility-minded construction for men and women. Drawing from Kandice Cota’s childhood across Europe and Asia, early experience as a Macy’s buyer, and a continual practice in painting and design for global brands, the collection translates surf energy and court-sport performance into pieces built for travel, play, and everyday life. At Marin Fashion Night, Kandi Cota will debut a tightly curated selection of footwear and apparel designed to perform from beach mornings and pickleball courts to adventurous city nights—each piece a conversation of color, texture, and movement.

“I’m thrilled to bring Kandi Cota’s joyful, wearable work to Marin Fashion Night,” said Kandice Cota, Founder & Creative Director. “This collection grew from my studio practice and years on the road—paint, courts, and surf all folded into shoes and clothing that are vibrant, comfortable, and made to move. Showing at the Headlands—inside this incredible arts landscape—feels like the perfect way to share that energy with the community.”

Why Kandi Cota at MFN matters

Marin Fashion Night emphasizes local creativity, craft, and collaboration. Kandi Cota’s presence brings a distinct West Coast perspective—where studio art, small-batch production, and comfort-first design meet. The brand's runway segment is tailored for a show that blends performance and storytelling: choreography, live music, and visual art will frame each look so attendees experience the pieces in motion and context.
