With 20+ years in IT security, Thomas brings deep expertise to enhance AV-Comparatives' visibility and serve as a key media and cybersecurity expert voice.

INNSBRUCK, AUSTRIA, October 7, 2025

/EINPresswire.com/ -- AV-Comparatives

is pleased to announce the appointment of Thomas Uhlemann as the organisation's new Cybersecurity Evangelist. With more than 20 years of experience in the IT security industry, Thomas brings deep expertise in threat landscapes, protection technologies, and market developments.

In his new role, Thomas will play a key part in enhancing AV-Comparatives' communication and global visibility, acting as both a media contact and an expert voice on cybersecurity topics. His extensive industry background will further strengthen AV-Comparatives' mission to deliver transparent, scientifically grounded, and independent evaluations of security solutions.

As part of his responsibilities, Thomas will be available to:

Provide expert commentary and background insights on IT security trends, testing methodologies, and transparency in cybersecurity;
Offer quotes or statements for media articles, industry reports, and publications;
Participate as a speaker or panelist at conferences, webinars, and other media or industry
