"Opening a Washington, D.C. office is a natural next step for us," said Lonnie Finkel, founder of Finkel Law Group. "This expansion reflects our growing focus on client matters that involve federal laws and regulations before the federal courts and regulatory agencies in Washington. Having a presence in the District gives the firm closer proximity to all the federal institutions whose work affects our clients, and enables us to more directly support for our clients' legal needs across multiple jurisdictions."

Lonnie Finkel founded Finkel Law Group P.C. in 2003 following a distinguished career in large firm private practice in both litigation and transactional matters. Mr. Finkel specializes in advising companies on corporate structuring, securities, intellectual property, licensing, and complex litigation. His colleague Ruth Auerbach specializes in advising companies on federal bankruptcy matters and financial restructuring transactions.

Before establishing the law firm, Mr. Finkel litigated environmental cases in Washington, D.C. with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the U.S. Department of Justice. He later practiced law with several major firms located in New York, San Francisco, and Los Angeles. Mr. Finkel earned his J.D. from American University's Washington College of Law and is licensed to practice in California, Maryland, and the District of Columbia.

With this expansion, Finkel Law Group reaffirms its commitment to delivering sophisticated, client-focused legal counsel to companies navigating the increasingly complex intersection of innovation, regulation, and commerce around the country.
