Canadian company dedicated to simplifying cryptocurrency transactions, today announced the opening of a new Bitcoin Counter in Saint-Laurent. This new location, hosted at Joetech Électroniques at 207 Boulevard Cote Vertu Ouest, further expands bitMachina's network of accessible crypto points of sale across Québec.

bitMachina was founded on the principle of making cryptocurrency accessible to everyone. By providing physical access points like ATMs and in-store counters, the company offers a familiar and trustworthy alternative to complex online exchanges. This hands-on approach is designed to assist both seasoned crypto users and newcomers who prefer the security of face-to-face transactions.

The new counter at Joetech Électroniques reinforces bitMachina's commitment to the Québec market, making it even more convenient for residents in the Saint-Laurent area to purchase popular cryptocurrencies. Customers can easily buy Bitcoin (BTC), Litecoin (LTC), Bitcoin Cash (BCH), and Ethereum (ETH) using Canadian cash, with a process as simple as any traditional retail transaction.

"Québec is a vital market for us, and we are excited to strengthen our presence here by partnering with a respected local business like Joetech Électroniques," Christophe Désormeaux, CEO of bitMachina. "Our goal is to provide Canadians with a reliable and straightforward way to access the digital economy. This new counter in Saint-Laurent helps us better serve the community and continue our growth in the province."
