This expansion follows Stephens' recent licensure as a National Mortgage Loan Officer out of Texas, operating under mortgage broker DirectRate USA. Working in partnership with a Los Angeles-founded Real Estate brokerage, Stephens, a registered business entity in Texas, blends a West Coast luxury market perspective with Texas-scale opportunity—offering clients a truly national reach and full-spectrum financial advantage.

"Real estate is evolving. Clients deserve a seamless experience that aligns their buying power, financing strategy, and long-term equity goals," says Stephens. "RADDR Group™ and Selling Dallas™ are about empowerment—making sure every dollar is working at its highest capacity."

Through this expansion, Stephens and his team provide clients with end-to-end real estate and mortgage solutions—from residential and investment listings and purchases to loans and capital optimization. The integration is designed to help clients free up capital, leverage equity, and maximize property ROI with unmatched efficiency and guidance.

Stephens' national reputation continues to rise with over 450 media features in outlets including Business Insider, Yahoo! Finance, MarketWatch, Barron's, and CEO Weekly, where he graced the August 2025 cover. Most recently, he was featured in KeyCrew Journal's article "From Fortune 10 Executive to Dallas Luxury Market Leader," which spotlighted his leadership journey, brand innovation, and forward-thinking approach to real estate strategy.

Recognized for his executive background, business acumen, and client-centered vision, Stephens' expansion under RADDR Group™ marks the next evolution of his mission: to deliver real estate and financial empowerment solutions that simplify and strengthen the way clients invest, finance, and grow across Texas and beyond.
