The Galaxy Z Fold7 is Samsung's lightest, most durable foldable yet—combining the portability of a smartphone with the immersive workspace of an eight-inch display. For businesses, that versatility means teams can do more on a single device.

Key Business Use Cases:

- Financial Services Productivity – Bankers, advisors, and mobile professionals benefit from large-screen real estate on the go, ideal for reviewing earnings reports, sharing data with clients, and drafting documents without needing to carry both a tablet and phone.
- Field Services Efficiency – Workers who traditionally carry both a phone and a tablet can consolidate into one powerful device. The Galaxy Z Fold7 allows field teams to access service apps, review schematics, capture photos, and communicate with customers.

For organizations that require a full desktop experience, the Galaxy Z Fold7 integrates seamlessly with Samsung DeX, giving professionals the flexibility to connect to a monitor and work as if they were on a PC. Meanwhile, Samsung Knox ensures defense-grade security and real-time threat protection—critical for industries like financial services where safeguarding sensitive data is non-negotiable.

“Foldable devices are no longer just a novelty—they’re a real business advantage,” said Staci Parker, Director of Channel Business Development. “By consolidating devices and enabling more powerful mobile workflows, the Galaxy Z Fold7 helps enterprises cut costs, increase efficiency, and deliver better customer experiences.”

As a Samsung Authorized Ascend Champion Partner and Independent Service Provider, Stratix offers end-to-end services—from procurement and kitting to deployment, management, and 24x7 support. This ensures organizations can fully leverage the capabilities of the Galaxy Z Fold7 without adding strain to internal IT teams.
