COLORADO SPRINGS, CO, UNITED STATES, October 10, 2025

/EINPresswire.com/ -- WCG CPAs & Advisors has introduced its new Rental Expert Pod (REP), a specialized team of real estate CPAs and rental property tax professionals focused on helping clients navigate complex real estate tax rules ahead of the upcoming tax season.

WCG CPAs & Advisors Rental Expert Pod

The Rental Expert Pod expands WCG's established Pod system, which emphasizes specialization and collaboration in tax planning. Each of WCG's seven primary Pods handles a range of client returns, while the new REP provides dedicated support on rental property taxation.

Real estate tax rules can be complex, but specialization turns that complexity into clarity. Our goal is to help every investor make confident, informed tax decisions.”

Jason Watson, CPA

“Specialization matters,” said Jason Watson, CPA and leader of the Rental Expert Pod. “It’s easier and smarter to hyper-train a few experts than forty generalists. The goal is consistency, accuracy, and a level of insight that turns rental complexity into opportunity.”

Focused Expertise in Real Estate Taxation

Rental property taxation brings unique challenges—from cost segregation and material participation tests to the short-term rental loophole and bonus depreciation. The REP addresses these issues directly, ensuring accurate reporting and proactive planning for clients seeking to maximize the tax benefits of rental property ownership.

The Pod assists with the rental property portion of tax returns, tax strategy meetings, and collaborative advisory work. This ensures each return is both compliant and optimized for long-term financial outcomes.

“Real estate tax isn’t one-size-fits-all,” Watson explained. “Our specialists focus on identifying and applying every deduction, credit, and optimization available under current law.”

Collaborative Model for Smarter Tax Strategy

The REP serves as an internal resource across all WCG Pods, bringing deep insight to matters such as entity structuring, depreciation timing, grouping elections, and IRS compliance. This collaborative approach allows clients to benefit from both general tax expertise and specialized real estate strategy.

When WCG opened applications for the REP, nine internal candidates applied for three positions—demonstrating strong interest in real estate specialization. The Pod is expected to grow as more investors and property owners seek focused tax guidance.

Led by Jason Watson, CPA—author of “I Just Got a Rental, What Do I Do?”—the Rental Expert Pod underscores WCG’s commitment to clarity, compliance, and client confidence in real estate taxation.
