of technology conferences and festivals combining academia, business, and technology. Simultaneously, Krakow will also host the prestigious Wolves Summit, an international platform that has been connecting start-ups and investors from Central and Eastern Europe and the DACH region with VC, CVC, corporate and angel investors since 2016, and the European AI Awards, powered by

Wolves, in the evening of 30 October.

The organisers are announcing a unique collaboration - as part of their partnership, Wolves Summit will host a joint Networking Zone, which is at the heart of TECH-ON! and a space for an intensive exchange of experiences. The zone will be available to attendees of both TECH-ON! (with an Executive ticket), as well as the Wolves Summit. This solution will bring an opportunity to bring together not only local entrepreneurs, representatives of the academia and innovation leaders, but also foreign investors and representatives of start-ups, creating real opportunities for building international business relationships.

‘Innovation is created where local communities boldly support voices for change. TECH-ON! has the ambition to showcase Krakow and the region as a place where academia meets business and creativity inspires action. Partnering with Wolves Summit, a leader in the area of networking and connecting start-ups with investors, allows us to carry out this mission in a unique way,’ the organisers of TECH-ON! emphasise.

‘We have been building bridges between innovators and investors in Europe and beyond for years. We are happy to join forces with TECH-ON! and support the development of the innovation ecosystem in Krakow. The Networking Zone is a space where contacts turn into deals and real business opportunities,’ said Thom Barnhardt, ceo of Wolves Summit.

Thanks to the joint Networking Zone, supported by the Brella Event App, TECH-ON! and Wolves Summit participants get a unique opportunity to build and foster valuable relationships. Smart

AI recommendations, the ability to set up 1-on-1 meetings and a clear meeting schedule mean that every minute spent in this space translates into real business opportunities. This is where local ideas meet global capital and where conversations held in Krakow may result in lasting partnerships for the future.
