The agency continues to make a difference in the lives of aging adults by offering reliable, uplifting care that helps seniors maintain independence and comfort in their own homes.

"Caring for seniors is not just a job—it's a calling," said Kevin McNeil, owner of Comfort Keepers of New Braunfels. ## Compassionate In-Home Care Designed for Comfort Comfort Keepers offers a wide range of in-home care services to meet the physical, emotional, and social needs of seniors. Their caregivers, known as Comfort Keepers, are highly trained professionals dedicated to helping older adults live fuller, more joyful lives. Services include assistance with daily activities such as meal preparation, light housekeeping, mobility support, medication reminders, and personal care.

In addition to everyday assistance, Comfort Keepers also provides specialized services, including respite care, dementia and Alzheimer's care, and end-of-life support. These programs are built around the principle of treating each senior with the same respect and compassion that caregivers would offer their own family members.

Every care plan is built in collaboration with the senior and their family, focusing on comfort, safety, and meaningful engagement. Caregivers take time to get to know each client personally—learning their interests, routines, and preferences—to help create positive and uplifting moments each day.

Building Connections That Enrich Lives

Beyond basic care, Comfort Keepers emphasizes companionship and emotional well-being. Caregivers don't just assist—they connect. Through conversation, shared activities, and encouragement, they help seniors feel valued, respected, and involved. These meaningful interactions not only improve mood and confidence but also help combat loneliness and isolation, which are common challenges among older adults. Comfort Keepers has been recognized with the Circle of Excellence Award by the National Business Research Institute (NBRI), highlighting their commitment to exceptional service and care.

“Many of our clients tell us that their caregivers feel more like family than helpers,” McNeil added. “That’s the greatest compliment we could ever receive. It means we’re doing what we set out to do—making lives brighter and helping seniors feel truly cared for.”

Families in New Braunfels can take comfort in knowing that Comfort Keepers prioritizes both affordability and quality. The agency offers flexible scheduling options—from a few hours a week to full-time care—allowing families to find the right level of support without financial strain.
