Our popularity stems from a flexible curriculum that adapts to diverse learner needs. All materials are designed with self-study in mind, allowing learners at every level and with varying goals to progress effectively. Among recent requests, two needs stand out: “solidifying fundamentals in a short period” and “obtaining a certificate confirming 150 study hours.” Reasons include clear deadlines for study (e.g., study abroad or employment), and the desire to solidify basics while motivation is high.
