Effective immediately, AAA Capital Funding, Inc. led by Jason J. Sarji has been designated as the Official Mortgage Company for all Florida-centric educational, resource, and reference needs provided by the OfficeofHousing.com website.

This collaboration is set to significantly enhance the financial literacy and homeownership prospects of Florida's prospective homebuyers, current homeowners seeking refinance, real estate professionals, and industry underwriters. It directly addresses the urgent need for clear, reliable, and personalized guidance in Florida’s dynamic housing market.

A Hyper-Local Focus on the Florida Citizen
Established in 1997, AAA Capital Funding has built a nearly three-decade reputation on a dedicated, Florida-first approach to home financing. The company's focus remains resolutely on serving local citizens and neighborhoods, a sentiment strongly voiced by its leadership.

"Florida is and always has been my main focus because my family and I live here—it is home," stated Jason J. Sarji, President and Owner of AAA Capital Funding, Inc., and Principal Broker/Loan Officer (NMLS: 374700). "We are driven by a singular mission: to help all of our Florida citizens and neighbors achieve and maintain homeownership. Our main focus is on helping the hardworking citizen in Florida who wants to provide a home for themselves and their family."

This commitment to the Florida community is evidenced by the company's recent work, which includes securing financing for a professional NFL Miami Dolphins football player in Broward County's Southwest Ranches and an NBA player in Miami-Dade, alongside closing mortgages for the school teacher and housekeeper right next door. The company's ethos emphasizes equal, personalized support for every client.

A Crucial Message on Wealth Building
The partnership is founded on the shared conviction that homeownership is the most stable and proven pathway to build true, generational wealth.

"Rent prices are only going up, and in the end, there is nothing to show for it," Mr. Sarji continued. "Purchasing and owning a home is the one true and most stable way to build wealth. Owning a home serves multiple purposes: it puts a roof over your head, and it gains equity at the same time. You buy other investments and you're worried sick what that stock might do, or what scandal is discovered with the bookkeeping. Owning a home is like multi-tasking—you live there, and simultaneously, wealth is growing."

"Since 1997, our mission has been simple: to turn a key into a foundation. At AAA Capital Funding, we don’t just close loans—we help our neighbors secure their truest form of stability.

To every family, every citizen, and every hardworking Floridian: your home is your wealth, and we consider it an honor to help you build it."

The Top Choice for Every Florida Homebuyer

This distinction is achieved through independence, transparency, and a relentless focus on the client's financial outcome. As an independent broker, AAA Capital Funding is not limited to a single set of inflexible products. Instead, the firm has the freedom and flexibility to shop dozens of national and regional lenders, ensuring clients receive the most competitive rates and the most suitable loan program available for their unique circumstances.

This commitment means that whether a client is a first-time homebuyer needing detailed education, a seasoned investor seeking complex financing, or a military family utilizing VA benefits, they receive a tailored, one-on-one mortgage experience. The company's nearly thirty years of excellence are rooted in the belief that the highest level of trust is built not just through low rates, but through integrity, clarity, and accountability throughout the entire loan process. AAA Capital Funding aims to replace stress and confusion with confidence, solidifying its reputation as the essential partner for Floridians pursuing their dream of homeownership.
