

Aventis Graduate School Champions “Innopreneurship in Action” at Global Leadership Series 2025

Empowering Asia's leaders in the age of AI, Aventis' Global Leadership Series 2025 unites visionary minds shaping the future of human-AI collaboration.

SINGAPORE, SINGAPORE, October 16, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Aventis Graduate School proudly announces the launch of the Global Leadership Series 2025, a premier platform designed to inspire innovation, leadership, and transformation across Asia's professional landscape.

The upcoming event, themed “Unleashing Innovation at the Human-AI Frontier: Innopreneurship in Action,” will take place on Tuesday, 28 October 2025, from 7:00 PM to 9:00 PM at Concorde Hotel Singapore, 100 Orchard Road. This exclusive edition brings together global thought leaders to explore how Innopreneurship — the fusion of innovation and entrepreneurial thinking — is reshaping how organisations lead, adapt, and thrive in the age of Artificial Intelligence (AI).

In an era dominated by intelligent systems, the greatest innovation remains human imagination. Innopreneurship empowers leaders to act decisively — with empathy, integrity, and purpose,”

Professor KC Chan, Academic Board Member at Aventis Graduate School

Meet the Titans of Innovation and Leadership

Professor Chen Jin (Tsinghua University) Director of the Research Center for Technological Innovation at Tsinghua University, Professor Chen is an internationally acclaimed authority in innovation management, open innovation, and strategic leadership.

His pioneering research and publications have influenced how organisations worldwide approach technology-driven change and sustainable innovation.

Professor Alex Siow (National University of Singapore)
Professor of Practice at NUS School of Computing and Singapore's first Chief Information Officer, Professor Siow is a visionary in digital transformation, enterprise innovation, and technology leadership. A recipient of the SkillsFuture Fellowship and the Hall of Fame Award at The Cybersecurity Awards 2024, he continues to shape Singapore's digital strategy and mentor the next generation of IT leaders.

Professor KC Chan (Aventis Graduate School & Tsinghua University)

Emeritus Professor and co-author of Wholistic Thinking, Professor Chan is a respected thought leader whose work in Innopreneurship and action learning has shaped innovation education across Asia. His global teaching, research, and consulting contributions continue to inspire leaders to embrace creativity, adaptability, and purpose in the face of disruption.

Inspiring Perspectives

"In an era dominated by intelligent systems, the greatest innovation remains human imagination. Innopreneurship empowers leaders not just to think differently, but to act decisively — with empathy, integrity, and purpose," said Professor KC Chan, Distinguished Professor of Wholistic Learning and Academic Board Member at Aventis Graduate School.

"At Aventis, our mission is to empower professionals to lead with foresight, agility, and purpose in an increasingly complex world. The launch of our Executive MBA Programme with the University of Chichester further reinforces this commitment by equipping leaders with the strategic and human-centred skills needed to navigate the AI-driven future. The Global Leadership Series embodies this same vision — providing a platform for future-ready leaders to connect with global visionaries shaping the next wave of innovation and leadership," shared Mr. Ramson Yap, MBA Programme Director at Aventis Graduate School.
