We are proud of the success of this first edition of Vitality Month, which created a space for science-driven dialogue and collaboration across the global nutraceutical industry.”

Mercè Piñol, SVP Sales, Aker BioMarine

leading ingredient brands in the health and wellness sector, successfully concluded the first edition of Vitality Month 2025. Over the course of one month, spanning from September 16th to October 15th, Vitality Month brought together more than 400 professionals across 10 cities in Europe and South America, creating a unique platform to share knowledge, highlight scientific innovation, and foster collaboration within the nutraceutical industry.

Vitality Month featured a series of seminars, expert panels, and networking sessions focused on four key health areas including healthy aging, inner beauty, weight management, and vitality. Each event combined cutting-edge scientific presentations with real-world insights from ingredient innovators and industry leaders.

At the core of the discussions was Superba Krill oil, Aker BioMarine’s flagship ingredient, known for its unique combination of omega-3s EPA & DHA, phospholipids, choline, and astaxanthin. Alongside this, participants explored the latest science behind a variety of functional ingredients, ranging from polyphenols to advanced nutraceuticals.

Highlights of Vitality Month 2025:

- London, Barcelona, and Paris: “Glow Inside Out” sessions on women’s wellness and inner beauty.
- Reus, Oslo, São Paulo, Madrid, Antwerp, and Istanbul: “Advancing Weight Management and Healthy Aging” events showcasing new research, ingredient science, and industry applications.
- Collaborations with more than 20 partner companies and research institutions, including Sirio, Gelita, Kaneka, AstaReal, Favea, Biostile, Grow in Health, Balchem, Lycored, and many more.

“We are proud of the success of this first edition of Vitality Month, which created a space for science-driven dialogue and collaboration across the global nutraceutical industry,” said Mercè

Piñol del Olmo, SVP Sales Human Health Ingredients EMEA & LATAM at Aker BioMarine. "It has been a unique opportunity to connect research, innovation, and market perspectives for the future of the industry."

With its strong attendance and enthusiastic participation, the inaugural Vitality Month has laid the foundation for an annual gathering point where science, innovation, and business in nutrition come together to inspire a healthier future.
