

Smiley Spiked by Maria Kotsoni Wins Silver in A' Jewelry Design Awards

Innovative Flexible Cuff Bracelet Blends Structure and Fluidity, Capturing Jury's Attention

COMO, CO, ITALY, October 21, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The A' Design Award, a highly prestigious and well-recognized award in the field of jewelry design, has announced Maria Kotsoni's "Smiley Spiked" flexible cuff bracelet as a Silver Winner in the Jewelry Design category. This recognition highlights the significance of Kotsoni's innovative design within the competitive jewelry industry, positioning her work as a standout among entries from around the globe.

Kotsoni's Smiley Spiked bracelet resonates with current trends in the jewelry market, where consumers seek pieces that blend comfort, versatility, and bold aesthetics. The design's articulated spike formation and flexible tube back demonstrate a keen understanding of wearability and functionality, making it a practical choice for everyday wear while maintaining a distinctive artistic edge.

The Smiley Spiked bracelet showcases Kotsoni's signature style, drawing inspiration from ancestral elements of protection found in nature. The softened spikes, carefully balanced to maintain visual impact without appearing aggressive, adorn the back of the wrist, creating a striking look even when worn under a sleeve. The oval-shaped, flexible double tube back ensures a secure and comfortable fit, allowing the bracelet to be worn alone, stacked, or paired with a watch.

This Silver A' Design Award win serves as a powerful motivator for Kotsoni and her team, inspiring them to continue pushing boundaries and exploring new frontiers in jewelry design. The recognition validates Kotsoni's approach to blending ancient inspirations with contemporary sensibilities, and may influence the direction of future collections within her eponymous brand.
