A&M Industrial's long-standing dedication to veteran causes is deeply rooted in the legacy of its founder, Arny Young, a proud U.S. Marine Corps veteran. This year's award honors the company's volunteer service and sponsorship activities at the New Jersey Veterans Memorial Home at Menlo Park, a state-run, 312-bed nursing facility providing comprehensive, around-the-clock care for veterans. A&M Industrial employees volunteer at the Menlo Park facility, organizing and sponsoring Bingo events for residents. The company funds the prizes awarded and engages directly with veterans—calling numbers, assisting with scorecards, and verifying winners.

Beyond financial contributions, these visits foster genuine moments of connection and appreciation for those who have served our nation.

“It's an honor to give back to those who sacrificed so much,” said David Young, President of A&M

Industrial. "My dad was so proud to be a U.S. Marine, and he instilled in us the importance of giving back. Accepting this award in his memory is truly special. He would be so thrilled that the A&M Industrial team continues to support veterans and honor his legacy."

In addition to assisting veterans, the Young family also founded and continues to support the Monica K. Young Foundation, which raises awareness of ovarian cancer and funds vital research toward a cure. The foundation honors the memory of Monica K. Young by providing resources and support for women and families impacted by the disease.
