

Andgo Named UKG Premier Partner for Shift Fill Automation

Recognition highlights Andgo's leadership in intelligent workforce automation and strengthens its strategic partnership with UKG

WILMINGTON, DE, UNITED STATES, October 27, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Andgo, a leader in intelligent staffing workflow automation for enterprise organizations, today announced it has been named a Premier Partner by UKG (Ultimate Kronos Group) for its Shift Fill automation solution.

This new Premier Partner distinction, launched in 2025, recognizes Andgo's deep product integration, customer impact, and collaborative partnership with UKG in driving organizations toward full staffing coverage and enhancing the employee experience.

“This recognition reflects the strength of our partnership with UKG and our shared commitment to helping our customers move from reactive staffing to proactive workforce management,” said Tom Ross, CEO of Andgo. “Together, we’re empowering customers to fill shifts faster, improve staff satisfaction, and deliver better outcomes.”

As a Premier Partner, Andgo gains enhanced access to UKG's partner ecosystem, co-marketing opportunities, and strategic alignment on go-to-market initiatives that deliver measurable value to customers.

Andgo earns Premier Partner designation

Andgo's Shift Fill Automation solution integrates seamlessly with UKG Pro to automate critical staffing processes, from absence management to shift filling. The system intelligently balances operational requirements with staff preferences, enabling organizations to reduce burnout, improve engagement, and ensure optimal coverage. Customers have reported results including $5 million in annual savings and an 80% reduction in scheduling-related grievances.

Andgo will showcase its latest workforce automation innovations at UKG Aspire, November 3–6 in Las Vegas. Attendees can visit Andgo's booth to learn how enterprise organizations are transforming their shift-filling operations through intelligent automation.
