

Valley Haul-Off LLC Sets a New Standard for Certified Hauling and Environmental Compliance in the Central Valley

Valley Haul-Off LLC is raising environmental standards in the Central Valley with fully certified, eco-compliant hauling and responsible waste management.

TULARE, CA, UNITED STATES, October 24, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- A leader in compliant waste handling, Valley Haul-Off LLC is redefining what certified hauling and environmental responsibility look like in the Central Valley. Founded by Frank Hernandez, the fully licensed and registered hauler has become the first in Tulare County to operate under full state and environmental compliance, including authorization from the Department of Toxic Substances Control (DTSC) as an Authorized Universal Waste Handler.

In an industry where shortcuts are common, Valley Haul-Off is setting a new precedent through certification, sustainability, and transparency, positioning itself not as a “junk hauler,” but as a certified hauling and environmental service provider dedicated to responsible waste management throughout California.

Raising the Bar for Certified Hauling

Valley Haul-Off operates as a California Registered LLC (SOS #B20250175539) with full DIR Public Works Contractor Registration, DTSC authorization (CAC003355891), CalRecycle compliance, and County Right-of-Way authorization.

The company is also a proud member of the Better Business Bureau and the Visalia Chamber of Commerce, reinforcing its commitment to professionalism and community trust.

“Too many operators cut corners when it comes to compliance,” said Frank Hernandez, founder of Valley Haul-Off LLC. “We wanted to build something that raised the standard, where every load is tracked, documented, and disposed of according to California’s strict environmental regulations.”

Valley Haul-Off’s mission extends far beyond disposal. The company prioritizes diverting waste from landfills through proper recycling and reuse channels.

Electronics, batteries, and fluorescent lamps are collected under DTSC oversight and sent to certified recycling facilities. Green waste is transported to composting sites, while metals and appliances are redirected to local recycling partners across Tulare, Visalia, and Fresno.

We’re not just hauling junk, we’re managing waste the right way. Every pickup we do is backed by certification, compliance, and care for our community.”

To further strengthen its environmental impact, Valley Haul-Off has announced plans to open a dedicated eco-sorting yard, designed to increase local recycling capacity and reduce long-distance waste transport.

“Our goal is to build a closed-loop system right here in the Valley,” Hernandez explained. “That means more materials being recycled locally, fewer landfill runs, and a cleaner, more sustainable community.”

Leading the Way in Compliance and Transparency

As California tightens environmental regulations, Valley Haul-Off continues to lead by example, bridging the gap between convenience and compliance for residents, contractors, and public agencies alike.

“This isn’t just hauling — it’s environmental accountability,” Hernandez added. “We want to prove that responsible waste management and professional service can go hand in hand.”
